Centre for Environmental Law, Education, Research and Advocacy (CEERA) established in 1997 focuses primarily on research, policy advocacy and training in the field of environmental law. Effectively networking among all stakeholders, undertaking training and capacity development exercises, providing consultancy services, and building an environmental law community are few of our main objectives. CEERA is the first Centre in India to have been granted a World Bank Project and thereafter has been a steady choice for the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change, Government of India. CEERA has been entrusted with several research projects and workshops to impart training to Government Officers, Academicians, Industry personnel etc.

About the Project

CEERA under the aegis of the Ministry of Law and Justice conducted a two-year research project on "Strengthening Legal Provisions for the Enforcement of Contracts: Reassessing the Quality and Efficiency of Dispute Resolution of Commercial Matters in India". The project was aimed at exploring the possibility of reform in various avenues of contractual enforcement. Under the project thorough review of the existing laws on contractual enforcement in India was undertaken with the view to evaluate and ascertain the efficiency of the Indian enforcement mechanism (both substantive rights and procedure) of contractual obligations in a globalized economic environment. The ultimate goal of this project was to look into legal reforms to improve the ease of doing business ranking of India and making contracting environment in India suitable to the needs and requirements of business and commerce in a globalized economy.
